Investment Performance

- In conducting an investment analysis of a mutual fund, an investor looks at factors such as how the fund has performed as compared to its benchmark.
- The investors can also compare the fund performance, Expenses ratio, management strategy, style and assets allocation to initial funds.
- Investment goals should always be considered when analyzing an investment. One size does not always fit all and highest returns suggestiveness of risk are not always the goals.

Investment
 → When making investment decisions investors must use a bottom-up investment approach or top-down approach.

Bottom-up Investment approach -

It does not focus on economic cycles or market moves first hand for capital allocation decisions but instead aims to find the best companies and stock regardless of economic, market or particular industry macro trends.

Top-down investment approach -

It Enterprises focus on making a more investment decision by allocating capital to specific companies. Investor then proceeds to find the best stock in each sector.

DEBENTURE

The term "debenture" is more descriptive than definitive. An exact and all-encompassing definition for a debenture had proved elusive. The English Commercial Judge, Lord Lindley, notably remarked in one case "Now, what the correct meaning of debenture is I do not know. I do not find anywhere any precise definition of it. We know that there are various kinds of instrument commonly called debenture."

In corporate finance a debenture is a medium to long-term debt instrument sold by large companies to borrow money, at a fixed rate, of interest. The legal term "debenture" originally referred to a document that either creates a debt or acknowledges it, but in some countries the term is now used interchangeably with bond, loan stock or note.
